Gimkit goes free.

November 14, 2021 by Josh Feinsilber

I launched Gimkit four years ago as a school project. It cost money to keep the servers running, and I certainly wasn't going to lose money on a school project!

So, I put Gimkit behind a paid subscription and made a very limited free plan. And that model has remained the same over the years.

New Features- Asynchronous Play !

Do students need a Gimkit account to play ?  NO !!!

Simply send the game link to the participants.  Asynchronous play works the same as a live game !

When given as an assignment, it's not as competitive because students work at their own pace.

Once completed, teachers will be able to see the results on their end.  A breakdown of individual student , question breakdown

Due Date

When should this assignment be completed by?

2020-08-23

12 PM

Target Cash

How much money do students have to earn for the assignment to be marked as complete?

@gcakey

Set up Classes

Optional feature

Invite students to the class that you create (Students would need to create an account)

Once in your class, only those names will appear to play.  This eliminates any inappropriate names and also enables Instant Join.  Students do not need to join with a game code, game will show up when they log in !

Classes feature is suggested for INK (a feature soon coming)
